Productblad: Horse trainer shock device

Frequent exercise is of capital importance for the condition of every horse. By means of a Q-line® horse exerciser you can provide your horse with the necessary exercise in a save and controlled environment.

A safe environment is also determined by the electrical shock on the drift fences. There can appear a dangerous situation when there is to much electrification on the drift fences. The Q-line Horse trainer is a shock device which can be adjusted in voltage with a potentiometer. Whether you have young scary horses in the exerciser or stubborn stallions, the device can be adjusted for every situation so you can train your horses safe in the Q-line horse exerciser.
